PLUG-IN:

CONVERSATIONS ABOUT STUDYING ABROAD FROM HOME

This is a year where many international students finding themselves studying in the United States from home, either in your home country or your room in Seattle. This can mean new challenges you've never faced before. We are inviting you to Plug In to conversations about these challenges with a cohort of your peers and support each other throughout them! You will be able lend a hand to your peers, and receive support when you need it.
