

Summer Intensive Learning Program at Nagoya University in Japan (SILP)

Nagoya University (NU) offers summer opportunities in the following interdisciplinary areas, whose social impact has long been desired:

1. Learning Experience Involving Making and Flying a Glider
2. Digital Rolling Ball Project "TAMAKORO"
3. 3D Generative AI Class
4. Visible Light Communication
5. Making Color-changing Paper Using Mechanochromic Materials

Participants will

- take class* (3 credits) at NU from one of the topics.
- work with NU undergraduate and graduate students to present* their research or products related to the topic.
- take a Japanese class (3 credits).
- join social activities and network with NU students and faculty.
- join field trips/lectures to deepen understanding of Japanese culture.

*in English

<https://nuss.nagoya-u.ac.jp/s/epGcFGB3ENM93RC>
Details of each topic

DATE Wed. June 18, 2025 – Fri. July 25, 2025

LOCATION Nagoya University, Nagoya, Japan

FINANCIAL AID JASSO scholarship  Need to meet certain conditions

ELIGIBILITY NCSU students and UW students (graduate students also welcome)

~Open to all majors. No technical knowledge or experience required~

Online Information + Q&A Session using zoom

6:00pm - 7:00pm, Thurs., Feb. 13, 2025 in EST
3:00pm - 4:00pm, Thurs., Feb. 13, 2025 in PST
(8:00am - 9:00am, Friday, Feb. 14, 2025 in JST)

Registration>>>

The URL for Zoom will be sent to you by auto-reply to your registered email

<https://forms.gle/Czz2KkyC2zjJ2umm9>

<https://nuss.nagoya-u.ac.jp/s/4cdn3RMBcncGZD6>

Application Guideline

The application site will open at 10 am JST on Friday, February 14

Nagoya University

Nagoya University is one of the seven prestigious "Imperial" universities in Japan. As the primary education hub in Central Japan, it has 16,000 full-time students, including 2,600 international students, and 3,200 faculty members. NU ranks the 8th among Japanese universities in the Times Higher Education Ranking. As of 2022, six Nobel Prize winners have been associated with NU.

Contact us

International Academic Exchange Office, Graduate School of Engineering, Nagoya University advisors@int.engg.nagoya-u.ac.jp

